Register a German GmbH: Legal & Tax Guide

Registering a German GmbH involves several key legal and tax steps that every investor must follow. First, you must draft and notarize the Articles of Association, outlining the company's structure and purpose. Then, open a corporate bank account and deposit the minimum share capital of €25,000. After receiving bank confirmation, register the company with the Commercial Register to gain legal status.

Next, apply for a Tax Identification Number with the local tax office and register for VAT if required. Finally, obtain a trade license from the local Trade Office to begin operations legally in Germany.
